“ I have a lot of memories of Peter that are filled with laughter and joy but I just want to dwell on one moment he was there for me. I went through a troubling time of losing/burying my grandmother with divorcing my spouse a whole month later. I didn't have much to smile about, but that changed when Peter and Jerelle reached out to me. Peter would check on me periodically and he invited me out to dinner with them where we talked and joked--easing my pain. They don't know it, but that night really blessed me. And Peter was that light and joy for everyone I knew. That same night after dinner, we sing to Whitney Houston so loud with the level of attitude and sass that was electrifying! I felt like I was Whitney lol but that's the type of people he and Jerelle were/are-- Humorous, Considerate, encouraging, inspiring, hard working, determined... making us all fall in love with them as a couple. That and many other moments showed the purity and sincerity of Peter's heart. God has truly gained an angel. Though we may not understand the Creators work, but we know Peter's spirit will live in us all. I will greatly miss him and I wish I had more time, but I know he will save a seat for me in Heaven so we can perform Whitney Houston together lol. I love you Peter and may your spirit dwell with us all. And God will let it be so and so it shall be. I love you.

Sofia & The Longoria Family & Jarrell, i know it's late on this, but nevertheless Sofia my heart goes out to you on the sudden loss of your Son, just know that you were in my prayers then and nothing i can say can ease your pain. My Mami said to lose your partner/Spouse hurts so much, but to lose your child hurts profoundly like no other pain, nothing can alleviate the emptiness and sorrow a Mother will carry w/her for thevrest of her days. May your handsome Son R.I.P.

Jarrell, again I reach out to you in hopes that you are hanging in there and doibg as well as can be expected after your loss of your Spouse. I hadnt seen the Obituary then until niw, but kniwwthat you all were in my thoughts and I too was feeling your pain.
